

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

The Australian Prevention
Partnership Centre
Systems and solutions for better health

How do you engage with the public in your work?

We want to know how and why policy and practice stakeholders engage with members of the public, and perceptions of the benefits and challenges of public engagement approaches, such as citizen science.

You may work in areas of policy or practice that influence health (e.g. health promotion, healthy environments or disease prevention), in government and non-government organisations.

How to participate

Go to <http://tiny.cc/CitSciInPreventiveHealth> or scan the QR code to get more information and to take part in a quick survey.

If you have any questions please get in touch with Leah Marks (email: leah.marks@sydney.edu.au; phone: 02 8627 7352).

